MORE WILSON GUARDS ARRIVE AT CORNISH

Cornish, N. H., July 4.-With the arrival here to-day of additional Secret Service men, extra precautions were taken to guard President Wilson from weak-minded persons stirred up by the assault on J. Pierpont Morgan and the explosion in the Capitel Building at Washington.

The President is watched day and night here, but from now on the guard will be increased and other means taken to prevent any attack on the Chief Executive. All strangers in Cornish and Windsor are being carefully scrutinized, and the entire machinery of the United States Secret Service has been set in motion to protect the President.

HOLT REVEALS PLAN TO HOLD MORGAN FAMILY AS ARMS EMBARGO HOSTAGES

In the following letter to his father-in-law, Frank Holt reveals his real plan in going to the Morgan home. It was to seize and hold Mrs. Morgan and her children as hostages to force Mr. Morgan to influence an arms embargo:

My dear Father Sensabaugh: I heard last night that you had telegraphed for particulars, but as I-had already written and telegraphed Leona and as the papers have given your interview, I did not think you needed any more particulars. The papers must have had plenty

How terrible it all looks now and how different from my plans! What can I say to console you and the family?

It is too much all at once. My heart and brain are in such agony that words cannot express. I fear you wish to come here, but I hope that you will not do that. I am well taken care of, and the grand jury cannot meet until September. I am held without bail plea without guilty. So I just wait, though I wish that death might come to end it all at once. Life under these conditions is unspeakably horrible. Yet I think I did right; only my plans did not come out as I

I went to the Morgan home in order to force him to use his great influence to stop the shipment of explosives. That is why I took some explosives with me, in order to be able to demonstrate to him, ad oculis, what the use of machines of murder means, but I did not wish to hurt any one. I wanted him to be in the same danger (him and his family) that we are imposing on Europe. I wanted to send him out to the manufacturers and men of influence to plead with them for real American neutrality, while I held his wife and dear children in some upper room of the house. I found the three children in the parlour and asked them to come upstairs with me. No objection. I walked shead. That was my mistake. If I had been behind them all might have been different now.

When I reached the top of the stairs Mrs. Morgan came screaming toward me and Mr. Morgan behind her. Now, instead of stopping and giving me a chance, all went off in an explosion of excitement. No chance for explanations. Mr. Morgan jumped at me, although I held the revolver in each hand. This physical courage overruled my moral courage. We rolled on the hall floor. I tried to shoot in the air, but some one grabbed my hand and pressed it down. At least, that is the only reason for Mr. Morgan being hurt. Of course, all was over, and I was unconscious for a while. Soon

I learned to my sorrow that Mr. M. was hurt. He was the very last one that should have been hurt; he was to go out and do the work I The slaughter must be stopped, and we must stop helping it on.

"MORGAN'S CONDITION MOST FAVORABLE."

This bulletin on Mr. Morgan's condition was given out at 8:30 o'clock last night by Junius Spencer Mor-

"The bullets did not enter the abdomen, and an X-ray examination shows that no bones have been damaged. Mr. Morgan's condition continues to be most favorable.

"H. H. M. LYLE, M. D." Amplifying the above statement, unius Spencer Morgan said: "My father is still confined to his sed. I cannot say when he will be able to return to his office. That is still very indefinite. It will be some time, however."

When Frank Holt, who shot J. Pierpont Mergan on Saturday, went to Glen Cove it was his plan to seize Mrs. Morgan and her three younger children and hold them as hostages in the Morgan house until the banker forced the abandonment of all American war contracts, killing the four in the event that Mr. Morgan did not succeed in doing as the peace fanatic wished. This Holt made clear yesterday afternoon in a letter written to his father-in-law, the Rev. O. F. Sensabaugh, of Dallas, Tex., and in a tail he had with Police Captain Thomas Tunney, of the New York Anarchist Squad. He further purposed, if it should have occurred to him as necessary. to use the explosives he had in his possession to demonstrate to Mr. Morgan "what the use of machines
